

“Many of the people in my organization utilize Larry and his firm to take care of their IT and computer needs. He is the best in the business, and I highly recommend his firm for their utmost professionalism.”

Steve Clem, Director of Business Networking International

I agree! This is why Larry Zimbler, President of Liberteks is on my show. Below is a little of what Larry wants to tell you.

"Do you remember when the IBM PC was launched? I do, I was doing microcomputer technology solutions for small businesses before then. With over 25 years experience in the microcomputer industry covering executive management, consulting, implementation, retail, distribution, publishing, manufacturers representative, I've probably seen the small business problem your referrals are facing now more than once. Ask me."
